

BAE Systems/NAMIG C2C Scholarship winners recognised

People/Awards

The three winners of this year's BAE Systems/Northern Advanced Manufacturing Industry Group (NAMIG) C2C scholarship have been officially recognised.

Thomas Schneider, Michael Thomas, and Susen Sharma received their awards in front of family and friends.

Managing Director Jim McDowell and Bernie Fitzsimons, NAMIG General Manager, presented the scholarships at a ceremony held at Edinburgh Parks in February.

BAE Systems is a founding member and active partner of NAMIG.

The not-for-profit incorporated body was developed to encourage students to stay at school, explore careers within engineering, science, maths and technology and to develop career awareness, employability and entrepreneurial skills.

Through NAMIG, BAE Systems supports an ongoing scholarship program, which provides funding for a university degree in science, mathematics, or a technology course relevant to the defence industry, paid work experience in the defence industry through BAE Systems, and career guidance and support from a BAE Systems mentor.

Thomas Schneider, Michael Thomas, and Susen Sharma