

19 ways Employers can be involved with NAMIG

Mentoring and Counselling Service

- Provide individual or small team mentorship by your business to students
- Contribute by mentoring teachers and students during their projects
- Support young people

Tours and Vocational Learning Experience

- Provide on-site tours of your business (small prepared groups of up to 15)

Partnership Activities

- Become involved in the NAMIG Industry Focus Group
- Provide guidance on industry specific trends and directions
- Develop and implement projects for school students
- Be an ambassador promoting the C2C programs in industry and community

Sponsorship

- Provide scholarships or other support or recognition for outstanding or disadvantaged students
- Sponsor Professional Development programs for teachers
- Donate redundant/surplus equipment, materials or training aids (computers etc)

Expertise, knowledge or other opportunities

- Introduce teachers to Advanced Manufacturing work environments
- Provide opportunities for teachers to develop or refine relevant skills
- Critique and assessment of student projects and performance
- Trial new procedures or practices being considered by your organization
- Enhance your staff development through involving junior staff in these projects
- Work with other industry partners delivering a project
- Provide guest speakers on various aspects of employability, business and trades
- Be on an interview panel for students performance and projects

Consider the mutual benefits of being part of the NAMIG C2C program

We would be pleased to send you an electronic copy of this form for completion.

Contact Emma at info@concept2creation.com.au and a copy will be forwarded to you